

BRYCE TO SPEAK AT JAMESTOWN

The English Ambassador Will Make His First Official Utterance There.

VIRGINIA ALUMNI BANQUET

Tucker Says He Will Certainly Be a Candidate for Governor. Good Story.

BY WALTER EDWARD HARRIS.
WASHINGTON, D. C., February 23.—It is probable that the first public address which Ambassador Bryce will make in this country will be delivered at Jamestown on the 15th of May, under the auspices of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. The association will celebrate on that occasion the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the English on American soil, and desires Mr. Bryce, as the representative of Great Britain to this country, to make the principal address. The invitation will be delivered in a few days. Mr. Bryce only arrived in Washington on Thursday of this week, and has not yet taken up his quarters at the embassy, which has undergone extensive repairs since being vacated by the Durand. Mr. Bryce and his wife are living at Stoneleigh Court, a stone-throw from the embassy, to which they will remove this week.

Virginia Alumni.

The Washington Alumni Association of the University of Virginia will have the annual banquet of the association at Rauscher's on next Tuesday night. Dr. Thomas Nelson Page will preside as toastmaster, and the speakers will include President Alderman, Senator Carmack, of Tennessee; Senator Culbertson, of Texas; Representative C. W. Wise, of the navy. Many Senators and Representatives are alumni of the University of Virginia, and a large number of leading professional men of the city are graduates of the institution.

Lamb Quiet on Post-Office.

Representative John Lamb said today he did not intend to make any further statement concerning the site for the Richmond post-office.

"People misunderstand my position in the matter," he said, "and what I say is generally misconstrued. I have contended that the present site is not the proper one, and still contend that the Secretary of the Treasury should be allowed to select the site. Whether he puts it on Main Street or Broad Street, the selection should have been made by him."

Judge R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, was at the Capitol today, and had to say something to everybody concerning his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the governorship, for every man he met introduced the subject. Judge Duke always leaves a man in doubt as to whether he intends making the race, but it is believed he will be a candidate.

Tucker a Candidate.

President Harry S. George Tucker, of the Jamestown Exposition Company, was here last night on his way home from Philadelphia, where he made an address Thursday night in behalf of the exposition. Mr. Tucker makes no concealment of the fact that he intends being a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination when the time comes, but he says he is too heavily engaged with the exposition affairs to give the subject attention now. Mr. Tucker brought back with him a new story, with which he is entertaining his friends.

"The present Governor of a certain Western State," the story runs in Mr. Tucker's language, "is of very humble origin, although he is a fine man and a fine official. His wife is a most excellent woman, but she and her husband were of the same station in life. She was telling some of her friends the other day what a good time she had had since her husband had become Governor."

"We are going somewhere all the time," she said, "to parties and balls and receptions, and, as for eating, we never get through. We take late invitations to breakfasts and luncheons and dinners, and have to decline many invitations. I tell the Governor he has hardly had his

ANDREW JOHNSON'S GRAVE IN DANGER

Gardner Wanted to Do Away With Appropriation—Defeated With Many "Noes."

WASHINGTON, February 23.—Over "Monument Hill," near Greenville, Tenn., the last resting place of Andrew Johnson, a storm of oratory broke today while the House, in Committee of the Whole, was considering the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The place was made a national cemetery a year ago, and there is a paragraph in the budget carrying $32,000 for a superintendent's lodge, roadways, walks and enclosing walls. Mr. Gardner, of Michigan, moved that the paragraph be stricken out for the reason that there were but four Union soldiers buried there. He said that the appropriation was really an ingenious way of taking care of the grave of Andrew Johnson.

This objection brought into the debate Mr. Brownlow, of Tennessee, a nephew of Parson Brownlow, who represents the district once represented by Andrew Johnson. He spoke earnestly against the motion of Mr. Gardner, and told the story of what East Tennessee had done for the Union Army. "The congressional district of which Greenville is the center," said Mr. Brownlow, "sent more men to battle for the Union than any other congressional district in the country, and they were 100 miles within the Confederate lines."

Passing to a discussion of Andrew Johnson and his contemporaries, Mr. Brownlow said, amid great applause: "I desire to say right here that in my opinion Andrew Johnson was the greatest patriot of the Civil War." Brownlow, Maynard and Nelson stood shoulder to shoulder with Johnson in his fight to preserve the Union and retain the old flag. He expressed the opinion that they did not deserve the credit that Johnson did because they were Whigs, and had been educated along the line of the preservation of the Union, while Johnson was a Breckinridge and States' rights Democrat.

Mr. Gardner's motion was defeated in a vast chorus of "Noes."

MANY SPEECHES IN THE SENATE

The Agricultural Appropriation Bill Received Great Consideration.

CURRENCY BILL CALLED UP

Senators Eulogize the Members of the Senior Body and of the Lower House.

WASHINGTON, February 23.—Although the Senate devoted four hours to legislative matters to-day nothing was accomplished except speech-making. The agricultural appropriation bill received further criticism. It is proposed that a million dollars be added to the fund at the disposal of the forestry service to make up for revenue taken from it and turned into the treasury. When this amendment is accepted, Senator Heyburn will not permit it to receive final action until he has exhausted every legitimate means of opposition. This amendment furnished the text of the talk to-day, but no action was taken.

The provision for a survey of the proposed White Mountain and Appalachian forest reserve, for which $25,000 is provided, was agreed to without argument.

The Senate leaders express disinclination to permit much more time on the bill. Senator Hale said today that if necessary the Senate will let the bill fall and provide for the support of the Agricultural Department by adopting a resolution continuing the appropriations of the last session. Senator Aldrich prevailed on Senator Heyburn to lay the agricultural bill aside shortly before 2 o'clock, that he might call up his currency bill. This was done, but in the hour that remained before the special order for eulogies was reached, nothing was accomplished beyond an explanation of his proposed amendment to the measure by Senator Nelson, regarding banks to pay 3 per cent. interest on government deposits, and an explanation of the purposes of the bill by Mr. Aldrich.

Explaining the provision in the bill which increases from $3,000,000 to $3,000,000 the amount of national bank circulation, Mr. Aldrich said that the limit was fixed in 1882, when there was a tendency on the part of national banks to retire their circulation based on government bonds as security, because of a suggestion by the Secretary of the Treasury that bonds at a lower rate of interest would be available for such security. This condition made it desirable to place a limit on the retirement of national bank circulation, and the $3,000,000 limit was then fixed.

The present universal demand for a more elastic currency, he said, would be met to a very slight degree by raising this limit. Banks which now refuse to increase their circulation to meet emergency demands, because they could not retire this circulation quickly when the demand ceased, he said, would be encouraged to issue this circulation. This provision he regarded as "only a drop in the bucket" in relieving the demand for elastic currency.

Many Eulogies.

The time after 3 o'clock was devoted to eulogies on the lives of the late Senator Almon, of Michigan, and Representative Hitt, of Illinois; Hear, of Massachusetts, and Lester, of Georgia. Representative Lester was eulogized by Senators Clay, Burrows, Mallory, Dooliver and Bacon.

DWELLING BURNED.

Fire Destroys Small Frame Residence and Damages Others.

Fire at a late hour last night completely destroyed a small frame house near the corner of Sixth and Preston Streets, and damaged very greatly a tenement house adjoining. Besides scorching two adjoining dwellings, an alarm was turned in from box No. 66, and the department responded promptly. The flames were soon under control. The loss will amount to about $2,000. Most of the furniture in the tenement house was saved. The origin of the fire is not known.

HOUSE AMENDS LAFOLLETTE BILL

Pass Amendment to Sundry Civil Bill, Abolishing Canteen at Soldiers' Home.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 23.—Under a rule reported from the Committee on Rules by Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, the House to-day amended its substitute for the Lafollette sixteen-hour railroad employee bill by an affirmative vote of 279 there being no negative votes cast. Both Republicans and Democrats agreed that the amendments made to the bill strengthened it greatly, and that it would be satisfactory to the President. The most important amendment adopted by the House is the elimination of the word "knowingly" wherever it occurs, which has the effect of relieving the railroads of responsibility for overwork unless it is proved that the management with the knowledge of railroad management that an employee has worked over time.

The House agreed to the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial bill, and then resolved itself into the committee of the whole for the consideration of the sundry civil bill, holding a night session in the hope of completing that measure. By a vote of 112 to 65 an amendment to the sundry civil bill was adopted which provided for the continuance of the preparation of a geological map of the United States under the direction of the chief of the survey, and made an appropriation of $100,000 to continue tests of structural materials, stone, clays, cement, etc.

The House to-night adopted an amendment to the sundry civil bill providing that no bar or canteen, where intoxicating liquor is sold, shall be maintained in National Soldiers' Home. Four hundred thousand dollars was added to the appropriation for the geological survey. The sundry civil appropriation bill, the largest in the history of the government, carrying $105,000,000 approximately, was passed. The House at 11:45 P. M. adjourned.

Not Correct Date.

An article published yesterday morning and containing a statement that J. L. O'Brien, of No. 295 South Fifth Street, had been found drunk in the streets Thursday night with a pistol clutched in his right hand, was in error to the extent that the reported happening occurred not at the time stated, but a week or more ago.

Written on the night O'Brien was discovered, it was accidentally laid aside, and in some manner got mixed with the matter sent to the printers Thursday, and eventually found its way into the paper without the proper change in the date.

Rich Gift for Princeton. PHILADELPHIA, PA., February 19.—Princeton University is on the verge of becoming the greatest seat of learning and college of research in the world. From a source connected with the public the university is about to receive a large bequest. The sum will soon become available. It is to be used to increase the equipment of the college, add to the staff and send men into a broad, unlimited field of research.

President Woodrow Wilson made this announcement during his address at the dinner given in Horticultural Hall last night before the members of the Princeton Club and the alumni of the university. When requested to go into further details as to the source of the fund, President Wilson said that the time is premature.

"Had this dinner been delayed a few weeks," he continued, "it might have been in a position to state in more definite terms just what this bequest is. I will say that it is not from one individual. It is so large that it will allow us to enter into researches on an almost unlimited scale. Our forces and equipment will be brought up to perfection, and I believe Princeton will rank as the first institution of learning in the world."

Although pressed for further details, President Wilson refused to tell the source of the bequest.

TO INVESTIGATE ALL ACCIDENTS

Interstate Commerce Commission Files Exhaustive Report on Block System.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 23.—The Interstate Commerce Commission to-day sent to the Senate an exhaustive report concerning the investigation made of the workings of the block system to prevent railroad accidents. The commission recommends the passage of a bill which it submitted a year ago that would compel all railroads to adopt the system, but now suggests that the time for compliance with compulsory features be extended three or four years from the present. The report estimates that it would take from one to three years for all roads to equip with the block system, the difference in time depending upon the time required to train operators and for manufacturers to supply the apparatus needed.

MISSING POLICEMAN.

Clifton Forge Chief Comes Here to Find Overdue Patrolman.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CLIFTON FORGE, VA., February 23.—Policeman George W. Kimberlin left here on the 12th of this month to take to Norfolk a deserter from the navy, whom he arrested here. He was let off for three or four days to make the trip. His continued absence created no special alarm, as it was thought he was visiting friends either in Richmond or Norfolk. Last night, however, Chief of Police Hornbarger left for Richmond and Norfolk in search of the absent officer at the solicitation of Kimberlin's parents. Nothing has been heard from the chief, but at last reports Kimberlin was said to be in Norfolk. He has not been on the force a great while, but has lived here a long time, being an officer of Alleghany county at the time Clifton Forge became a city. His friends here are in hopes that no trouble of a serious nature has occurred.

Policemen and detectives of Richmond are on the lookout for a policeman. The person missing is no other than a real live, uniformed, badge and appointed officer of Clifton Forge, who has been mysteriously silent as to his whereabouts since the twelfth of this month.

George W. Kimberlin is the name of the officer who is missing. He left his home to go to Norfolk with a deserter. He was seen in Norfolk. His prisoner was turned over all right. But Kimberlin didn't return.

Chief of Police Hornbarger, of Clifton Forge, was in Richmond yesterday and asked his officers to assist him in his search for his officer. The missing man is said to have been of excellent habits and his friends are unable to account for his disappearance.

TO HANG NEGRO.

Man Who Attacked His Stepchild Will Pay Extreme Penalty.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ASHEVILLE, N. C., February 23.—James Rucker, colored, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Charles A. Cook, in the Superior Court, to be hanged on Friday April 12th, for assault upon his little stepdaughter, Ada Upshur, a child but six years old.

Rucker will be the first man to be executed in Buncombe county for six years. The negro was also suspected of an attempted criminal assault in Victoria, shortly before his arrest for the crime against his stepdaughter.

Rucker is apparently indifferent to his fate, and hardly seems to realize that he has but a short time to live.
